THE SOUTHERN JOURNAL OF EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

Cumulative Index to Titles in Volume V

An analysis, classification, and synthesis of research and professional periodical literature from 1957 through 1967 relative to business communication instruction, F. L. Wise, 1-15.

Assigning students to classes in a phased elective high school English curriculm, R. Strebeck, 173.

A comparison of a programmed course and a traditional lecture course in general biology, E. M. Gunn & R. Strickland, 17-29.

A comparison of three standardized reading tests in a fifth grade sample, B. Davis & G. McNinch, 101-112.

Beginning tennis skill and field independence, W. Cooper & W. Armstrong, 114-119.

Demographic characteristics of student leaders in instrumental and expressive voluntary associations, J. C. Snell & W. O. Wakefield,

Differences in verbal responses (Paradigmatic-Sytagmatic) among junior college freshman, C. Switzer, 57-66.

Education: In search for a better academic tomorrow, K. U. Gutsch,

The effect of prenatal auditory stimulation on imprinting behavior, D. B. Fancher & J. D. Lowe, 208-224.

Field independence and serial verbal learning, R. Kazelskis, 31-38.

THE SOUTHERN JOURNAL OF EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

Cumulative Index to Titles in Volume V

An analysis, classification, and synthesis of research and professional periodical literature from 1957 through 1967 relative to business communication instruction, F. L. Wise, 1-15.

Assigning students to classes in a phased elective high school English curriculm, R. Strebeck, 173.

A comparison of a programmed course and a traditional lecture course in general biology, E. M. Gunn & R. Strickland, 17-29.

A comparison of three standardized reading tests in a fifth grade sample, B. Davis & G. McNinch, 101-112.

Beginning tennis skill and field independence, W. Cooper & W. Armstrong, 114-119.

Demographic characteristics of student leaders in instrumental and expressive voluntary associations, J. C. Snell & W. O. Wakefield,

Differences in verbal responses (Paradigmatic-Sytagmatic) among junior college freshman, C. Switzer, 57-66.

Education: In search for a better academic tomorrow, K. U. Gutsch,

The effect of prenatal auditory stimulation on imprinting behavior, D. B. Fancher & J. D. Lowe, 208-224.

Field independence and serial verbal learning, R. Kazelskis, 31-38.

Information feedback in motor skill learning-Theoretical positions, W. E. Cooper,

Intelligence performance of headstart children, C. D. Thomas, J. D. Alcorn & W. R. Holmes, 51-56.

A note on the extraction of components and the applicability of the factor model, D. C. Dziuban, 181-183.

A partial replication of a science vocabulary inventory administered to seventh grade students, D. W. Knight, G. M. Barry & P. Bethune, 173-180.

In vivo vs. imagination: An arousal comparison, C. S. Small,

The relationshipship between language association and reading achievement in the eighth grade, Shine-ming Sun Shen and G. H. McNinch,

The relationship of pain and other selected factors to cardiovascular admustment in normal adult males, J. J. Cadle, 194-207.

Some psycho-social considerations of hallucinoginic drug management, R. M. Casse, Jr., 68-80.

Transformational grammar and attitude toward induction as determenants of structurally comples writing, C. L. Thomas & M. Middleton, 82-99.

The usefulness of perental occupation as a criterion for standardization of the WISC, L. K. Hildman & J. D. Lowe,

Cumulative Index to Authors in Volume V

Alcorn, J. E. See Thomas, C.

Armstrong, W. See Cooper, W. E.

Barry, G. M. See Knight, D. W.

Bethune, P. See Knight, D. W.

Cadle, J. J. The relationship of pain and other factors to cardiovascular adjustment in normal adult males, 194-207.

Casse, R. M., Jr. Some psycho-social considerations of hallucinogenic drug management, 68-80.

Cooper, W. E. Information feedback in motor skill learning--theoretical positions, 152-157.

Cooper, W. E. & Armstrong, W. Beginning tennis skill and field independence, 114-119.

Davis, B & McNinch, G. A comparison of three standardized reading tests in a fifth grade sample, 101-112.

Dziuban, C. D. A note on the extraction of components and the applicability of the factor model, 181-183.

Fancher, D. B. & Lowe, J. D. The effect of prenatal auditory stimulation on imprinting behavior, 208-224.

Gunn, E. M. & Strickland, R. A comparison of a programmed course and a traditional lecture course in general biology, 17-29.

Gutsch, K. U. Education: In search for a better academic tomorrow, 131-134.

Hildman, L. K. & Lowe, J. D. The usefulness of parental occupation as a criterion for standardization of the wisc, 120-129.

Holmes, W. R. See Thomas, C. D.

Kazelskis, R. Field independence and serial verbal learning, 31-38.

Knight, D. W., Barry, G. M. & Betune, P. A partial replication of a science vocabulary inventory administered to seventh grade students, 173-180.

Lowe, J. D. See Fancher, D. C.

Lowe, J. D. See Hildman, L. K.

McNinch, G. See Davis, B.

McNinch, G. See Shine-ming Sun Shen

Middleton, M. See Thomas C. L.

Shine-Ming Sun Shen & McNinch, G. H. The relationship between language association and reading achievement in the eight grade, 40-49.

Small, C. S. In vivo vs. imagination: An arousal comparison,

Snell, J. C. & Wakefield, W. O., Demographic characteristics of student leaders in instrumental and expressive voluntary associations, 159-170.

Strebeck, R. Assigning students to classes in a phased elective high school English curriculum, 184-193.

Strickland, R. See Gunn, E. M.

Thomas, C. D., Alcorn, J. D. & Holmes, W. R. Intelligence performance of headstart children, 51-56.

Thompson, C. L. & Middleton, M. Transformational grammar and attitude toward induction as determinants of structurally complex writing, 82-99.

Wakefield, W. O. See Snell, J. C.

Wise, F. L. An analysis, classification, and synthesis of research and professional periodical literature from 1957 through 1967 relative to business communication instruction, 1-15.